

History Department Funding for Undergraduate Research

Call for Applications

The History Department has a limited amount of funding to assist undergraduates in pursuing historically oriented research. Students may request funding to cover travel to archives, visits to libraries, or Xeroxing. Any student conducting research with a history faculty member, whether for a seminar paper or a senior thesis project, is eligible to apply. Preference will be given to those enrolled in History's Honors Program and writing a thesis. Awards are generally in the $200 - $500 range.

The deadline for fall 2016 is Friday, September 30, 2016. Students should submit the following materials to Judy Yonkin (450 McGraw Hall) by the deadline.

- A brief (one page) statement explaining your project and research plan
- A tentative budget
- The attached Application
- A brief email of support from your advisor or project supervisor (sent directly to Judy Yonkin)
- Applicants who are currently enrolled in History 4001 will also be considered for the Mary Beth Norton Award, which honors the most promising thesis-related research proposal of the semester.

Evaluation and acceptance of each proposal will be based on the feasibility and demonstrated practicality of the proposed research; the necessity of requested research to the proposed project; and the project's analytical depth.
